Gariff provided specialist joinery services for this impressive new Alder Hey Children's Hospital building in Liverpool. Work to the five-story high atrium concourse included all wall panelling systems such as white wave design MDF panels and ash slatted acoustic panelling system with integrated media screens. Specially designed furniture for example radius fixed upholstered seating, beech reception desks and curved laminate & Corian® nurses stations were all manufactured in our workshop and fitted on site by the Gariff team. The project also incorporated the creation of the imposing conical treehouse-like structure in the atrium which features Corian® fabricated multi-faith facilities.

TYPE: Public, Healthcare
